BURNED AT A STAKE.

Two Negroes Meet Horrible Fate in Georgia.

Bodies Soaked With Kerosene by a Mob, Then the Torch was Applied.

Statesboro, Ga., Aug. 16.—With their clothing saturated with kerosene and writhing and screaming, Paul Reed and Will Cato, negroes, the two principals in the murder and burning of Henry Hodges, his wife and six children three miles from Statesboro three weeks ago, were burned at the stake today.

Cato begged to be shot or hanged. Some of the more humane wanted to grant the request, but they were in the minority. A member of the mob made a speech, recounting the horrors of the crime. This inflamed the crowd to a burning pitch.

To a large stump twelve feet high, the men were chained. A wagon loaded with pine wood was hauled to the spot and piled around the men and ten gallons of kerosene was thrown over them. A photographer was present and the crowd cleared back so that he might get several views of the men. Then followed an awful scene. Frenzied cheers rent the air as the men almost crazed with hatred for the men being punished, saw the cruel flames drinking up the life blood.

The spectacle was frightful. As the flames reached Reed's naked oil-soaked skin he twisted his head around in an endeavor to choke himself and avoid the frightful torture. Only once did he complain. He said:

"Lord have mercy."
Cato screamed with agony and begged to be shot. His heavy suit of hair, which was oil soaked, was almost the first thing the flames fastened upon. He was screaming with agony while the hemp rope became a collar of fire around his neck.

As soon as it was seen that the men were dead the crowd commenced to disperse. A large number remained behind piling more fuel on until both the bodies were burned except the trunks. Others employed themselves in thrashing out the fire, which commenced spreading among the dry pine needles.

FATHER IS CRAZY.

L. B. Coomes Loses His Mind Over His Son's Death.

Madisonville, Ky., Aug. 18.—L. B. Coomes, the father of James Coomes, who was murdered by the negro, Roy Green, in Owensboro, July 30, was today declared insane by a commission in the justice's court and taken to the hospital for the insane at Hopkinsville.

The man is the father of twelve children, one of whom was the murdered man. He became suddenly insane a few days after his son's tragic death and it is said by his relatives that grief over the murder of his son deranged his mind.

The old man's insanity took a peculiar turn. He would wander along the road which ran in front of his home four miles from this city, and call aloud for his son to come to him. He frequently stopped people passing in their wagons and asked them to come out and pray with him for his son's return to life. Within the last few days he had become a raving maniac and vainly clamored to his sons, who had to hold him in bed, to let him loose and let him kill the murderer. It was feared that in an unguarded moment he might injure some of his family and his oldest son took steps today to have him committed to the hospital.

He examining physicians think in time he may become rational again.

MEET TRAGIC DEATH.

William Hoback and Harvey Allen Asleep on Rails.

Bodies Were Found Sunday Morning by an Employee of The Road.

Owensboro, Ky., Aug. 17.—One of the most lamentable accidents that has ever happened on the Henderson route was the killing of William Hoback and Harvey Allen, two young men, four miles west of the city, at midnight Sunday. They were evidently sleeping by the side of the track, using the rail as a pillow.

Their heads were crushed, while the remainder of their bodies were uninjured. Both Hoback and Allen lived at Bon Harbor mines. Hoback, the owner of the mines, and Allen was a son of Henry Allen, and was employed in the office at the mines.

The bodies were found early Sunday morning by an employee of the road. They were stretched by the side of the track and had apparently been hardly moved by the passing train. It is certain that they were killed by the midnight passenger train, west bound.

The young men went to a dance Saturday night at the home of J. W. Cole, near Mattingly's distillery, where they spent the evening. Member of the Cole family say the young men left the house at a few minutes after 11 o'clock. The bodies were a mile and a half from the Cole house and it was evident that the boys had sat for some time beside the track. A number of cigarette stumps and a quantity of tobacco juice were beside the track where they had sat. Evidently they became sleepy and, probably unconscious, lay down with their heads on the track. They could not have been in this position many minutes when the train came.

Coroner Hayden was notified as soon as the bodies were found and repaired to the scene at once and held an inquest. A verdict was returned in accordance with the facts.

Hoback was twenty years old while Allen was two years his senior. Both were habitually sober and it was stated at the inquest that neither of them had drunk any intoxicant Saturday night. Hoback was born in France, but came to this country when a small boy. He was bookkeeper at the mines. Both young men were well known in Owensboro.

In Memory of Mrs. Nancy Park.

On July 10th 1904, the dark angel of death hovered over the home of our dear mother. In the beautiful beyond were beckoning hands of loved ones gone before, and the sweet voice of her Redeemer calling her home. Her pilgrimage had been long, and the mile-stones marked with deeds of love and kindness.

She was eighty-four years of age, had lived a consistent member of the Methodist church the past seventy years. She leaves four sons and three daughters, a host of relatives and friends to mourn her loss.

A face is missing in our home. A voice we loved is still.

A place is vacant in our heart Which never can be filled. DELL

GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

Senator Fairbanks will tour the country in the interest of the Republican National ticket. He will first open the Kansas State campaign and thence proceed east, after which he will go to the far West. Secretary Shaw will also make a number of speeches in the interest of the Republican ticket.

For a shooting woodcock within the city limits of Chicago, Mayor Harris has laid himself liable to a fine. He was scored for his disregard of the law which seeks to protect the woodcock from slaughter, as this species of bird is fast becoming extinct.

According to the Government weekly crop report the central valleys have suffered greatly from a lack of rain during the past week. Corn has suffered especially from drought in what is known as the strictly corn belt. A more or less deterioration in cotton has been felt within the last week. Boll weevils have made their appearance along the gulf coast. Tobacco has suffered materially from drought in the Ohio valley.

The Secretary of Navy has decreed that liquor shall be used in christening all vessels of the United States Navy. He was requested by a temperance league to designate water as a substitute for wine.

The Japanese have made a demand for the surrender of Port Arthur, and the latest bulletins from the scene of war say it has met with a refusal. The docks at the besieged city have been set on fire by Japanese shells, and several houses have been destroyed by the flames. Raids are interfering again with the Manchurian land campaign, but the Japanese forces are said to be making another advance and driving back the Russian outposts.

"I Do All My Housework and Take Care of My Baby and I Feel So Good."

A YOUNG MOTHER'S LETTER.

Mrs. W. McRoberts, writes to Dr. Hartman from Delano, Miss., the following:

Delano, Miss.

Dear Sir:—I feel perfectly well of catarrh. I did as you directed me to and took Peruna and Manalin. The third of March I gave birth to a ten pound baby girl and we are both well and happy. I am very thankful to you and Peruna saved my life. I recommend it to everyone and can't praise it enough.

"I send you my own and my baby's picture. She is so sweet and good, she is a Peruna baby. I have such good health now. I do all my housework and take care of my baby and feel so good."

"There are three or four of my neighbors using Peruna now since it did me so much good. They were just run down, and they think it is fine, it is so good to give strength."

Mrs. W. McRoberts.

MRS. L. M. GRIFFITH, Arco, Idaho, writes: "I am thirty years old and never had any children; but since beginning your medicine I gave birth to a 10-pound baby girl. I am stronger than I have been since I was quite young. God bless you and your medicine forever."

MRS. L. M. GRIFFITH. If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

MISS CLARK

Of Hopkinsville, Commits Suicide With Poison.

Unable to Bear the Odium of Charges of Forgery Against Her.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Aug. 16.—Unable to bear the odium of the charges of forgery which have been preferred against her, Miss Belle Clark, a beautiful and popular young woman, this afternoon committed suicide by swallowing corrosive sublimate.

Last Saturday it was discovered that a check for $550 and another $50 drawn in favor of Miss Clark on Walter P. Bowles, a well known young Crifton farmer, were forged. The checks were on the bank of Hopkinsville. Miss Clark was arrested, but released on bond after the date for examining trial had been set.

Miss Clark stated that she had been given permission to draw checks on Mr. Bowles. She told where $500 of the money had been placed and it was returned to the bank.

Miss Clark was about twenty-three years old and had lived in Hopkinsville for several years. It is said that she left home after a quarrel with her family over a love affair. At this time she drank corrosive acid and her life was barely saved.

PARKER'S RESPONSE. Supposed Speech of Silent Man Accepting Nomination. Will do His Utmost to Fool the People---How He Hypno- tized Democracy.

[Yellow Jacket.]
It affords me great satisfaction to know that any party reposes such unbounded confidence in me as to make me its standard bearer in a great contest like the one which is now about to open. Perhaps "standard bearer" is not the word to use in this campaign, as we do not seem to have any standard. But, anyhow, I am glad to know that I have been deemed worthy to be singled out from among so many able Democrats and entrusted with the frazzle-ended banner of Democracy, which has so long trailed in the blue mud of defeat. I am not saying that I will be able to lift it up and float it high in the sunshine of victory. That would be taking too much for granted. All I can promise is, that I will do my utmost to fool the people into voting for me like I fooled you fellows into nominating me. I have never talked much, but I am a terrible deep thinker. I can draw up some of the most subtle plans you ever heard of, as a rule they work out pretty well. Now that it is all over and I have captured the nomination I don't mind telling you how I worked it. You will then be able to judge what a resourceful candidate you have got.

In the first place, I wheedled in with Hill and got him to become my lieutenant. I knew something of his ability as a worker of underhand schemes. I put him into the secret of my financial leanings, and told him to communicate the news to all the gold standard people. He did just as I had commanded him. I was then sure that my lieutenant could bring all the sound money delegates to my support. I knew also that my lieutenant was capable of making the silverites believe I favored their way of thinking. That was a right ticklish job, but Mr. Hill managed it well. I put a heavy burden on my tongue and devoted all my energies to seeing how silent I could be. Mr. Hill held the ropes. When I gave him the wink, then he pulled. We had decided to suggest a gold plank and then patch the silverites by letting them kick it out. I willing to stand on a platform with a hole in it for the sake of getting the two wings united for me in the convention. I intended all the time to make my views known after I had gotten the nomination, for I felt sure that the convention would not have the heart to change its decree after it was once given out to the public. I had that telegram written a week before the convention met, and I knew perfectly well just how it was all going to work out.

So you see I am a cunning old fox when I set my head, and you may all congratulate yourselves on having such a schemer for your candidate. Now if you will all forgive me for fooling you the way I did; if you will all set in and use your influence to help me fool the voters as effectively as I fooled you, there may be some hope of success in November.

I am going to fling aside my judicial toga and put on my political bathing suit and dive into foaming torrent of politics with even more zest than I have ever shown in splitting the old Hudson here at Rosemount.

I am glad to be the candidate of the Democratic party, not that I have much hope of winning, but because there is some honor in being the leader even of a forlorn hope. To be the idol of one's party and to be the recipient of the minority vote of the country means a whole lot to a fellow like me.

My husband felt disappointed as well as I, for home with a sick woman is a disagreeable place at best. A friendly druggist advised him to get a bottle of Wine of Cardui for me to try, and he did so. I began to improve in a few days and my recovery was rapid. Within eighteen weeks I was another being.

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, putting it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased. Mr. D. Kauble, of Nevada, O., says: "I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me."

Kodol Digests What You Eat and relieves the stomach of all nervous strain and the heart of all pressure. Bottles only, $1.00. Size holding 2 1/2 times the trial size, which sells for 50c.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 19

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT,
THEODORE ROOSEVELT,
OF NEW YORK

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
CHARLES W. FAIRBANKS,
OF INDIANA

FOR CONGRESS,
DR. BEN L. BRUNER.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

FOR JAILER.

We are authorized to announce JAMES I MORTON as a candidate for the office of Jailer of Ohio county, subject to the action of the Republican party.

It's funny the way the editor of a country weekly sometimes puffs himself.

As yet the American people have never shown any desire to support a platform of evasion, shuffling effort-ery, and rank cowardice.

THERE are some people who cannot discern between criticism and approbation. They even call a sharp rebuke, disapprobation or criticism a compliment.

COL. BRYAN has agreed to deliver several speeches in Indiana during the present campaign. An increased majority for Roosevelt and Fairbanks will be the result.

PARKER thinks that a candidate for President should be a private citizen. The voters think so too and on November 8th they will retire Mr.
Parker to very private life.

We understand that candidate Parker is never more delighted than when caught out in a storm. He will get his fill of it when the blizzard of November 8 comes upon him.

From a review of Wednesday's issue of the Hartford Herald we note that the editor's advertisement for an attorney to assist him in collecting his thoughts has not yet been answered.

DEMOCRATS contend that candidate
Parker does not speak for Wall Street.
The history of that famous telegram to the St. Louis Convention indicates that Wall Street speaks for candidate Parker.

CANDIDATE PARKER in his speech of acceptance gave assurance that if elected he would not ask for a second term. Such a declaration should add strength to his cause. Four years of calamity is more desirable than eight.

A MAN who is not well known himself and especially an unknown, silent man, must be judged by his advisers. If Parkers is elected President we must therefore infer that his associates and advisers will be David B. Hill and August Belmont.

A BRIEF review shows that the element which leads and dominates the Democratic party to-day stands not for tariff for revenue, but for ultimate free trade. There is no use trying to dodge that fact. The workmen of the whole country should take note of it.

CHAMP CLARK the Missouri congressman, the chairman of the recent National Democratic Convention and a wine jannet of some note, during a joint political debate at Gleewood Park, Louisville, last Saturday said to R. R. Perry, editor of the Sun-Sentinel, "If you will meet me on the outside of this tent I will cut your throat from ear to ear." Is this the barbaric age or the age of civilization?

We are sometimes caused to wonder when men supposed to be of such high rank as Mr. Clark grow so very violent at seemingly no provocation.

METROPOLITAN dailies tell us that quite a number of the lawyers of the New York Bar have formed what they term a Parker constitutional club. They, like candidate Parker, agree that Republican legislation already enacted against the trusts is useless and that any more of the kind would be entirely uncalled for and offensive.

ONCE in office always in office
seems to be the motto of Frank Lucas, who recently swooped down on the citizens of this country and touched them for a nice sum alleged to have been for back taxes. Auditor Hager has removed Mr. Lucas and given notice to that effect, but the latter gentleman persists in holding on and going after people in the same old way.

SINCE the Hartford Herald persists in nagging us and boring its few readers about what we have said with reference to the Democratic platform, we feel impelled to ask the opinionated editor of the erudite sheet to explain what effect the Parker telegram to the St. Louis convention and the response to it had on the party on the platform. What did it amount to,
and why was it sent?

ONE of the favorite arguments of the free traders has been that with free trade, we would have access to the "Markets of the World." Well, the only time the free traders have had control of the government in recent years was during Cleveland's last administration which began in 1893.
They did not put actual free trade into operation, but they come close enough to it to put most of the factories of this country out of business.
We did not then get the market of the world. They may have been open to us, but business was so completely ruined by the tariff schedules which Democrats had put into effect that the markets of the world could not be reached. Our own home market, the best one to us, was invaded by cheap foreign products, however. Then the protective system was reinstated by the people when they elected a Republican President and Congress, and immediately the wheels of business began to move. Within ten years it has been clearly demonstrated that the way to get the market of the world is to protect our own markets against invasion, build up our industries, and then branch out for foreign trade. We have not had anything like free trade within those ten years and yet we are selling millions of dollars worth of our products every year in the "markets of the world."

FAKE DEATH

Of an Arkansas Doctor Whose Widow Collects Insurance.

Division of Money Unearths
the Well Executed Scheme.

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 18.—The biggest sensation ever sprung in this State or section of the country was developed to-day when several life insurance companies garnished the German National bank for funds alleged to be in the bank to the credit of Mrs. Ethel Lightle, of Searcy, whose husband was thought to be dead. The companies entered suit several days ago for the return of the money paid Mrs. Lightle on the death of her husband.

Several months ago the people of this State were horrified to hear that Dr. R. G. Lightle, one of the most prominent physicians of Searcy had been burned to a crisp in his stable.
It was stated and so returned by the corner's inquest that he had gone to the Stable to fill a coal oil lamp and by some means the lamp exploded and Dr. Lightle was burned beyond recognition. Fragments of bones were recovered and buried in the city cemetery, the funeral being the largest witnessed in Searcy for many years. Dr. Lightle carried $21,000 insurance on his life which was paid to his widow.

The identity of the body was established to the satisfaction of everybody and the insurance was paid last May. A few days ago S. M. Powell, of Little Rock, general agent of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company came into possession of rumors which led him to make a thorough investigation. It was stated that the bones found in the stable were from the body of a man named Pitts, who had died a few months before. Saturday night parties opened the grave and found that the coffin was empty. Pitt's body had been stolen. The first knowledge Mrs. Lightle had that her husband was not dead was a few days ago when the two men who took part in the conspiracy called upon her for their share of the insurance money. They told her for the first time that her husband was alive and told her where to send the money. The division of the money was the direct cause of the exposure.

JAMES WILSON, Sr., tf Echols, Ky.

Prof. George Wilson, of Oklahoma, was the guest of his uncle, Esq. J. A. Park, the first of the week. Prof. Wilson is a native of this county having left it to make his home in the West when he was thirteen years of age.

The residence of T. R. Kincheloe, of the Matanzas neighborhood, was destroyed by fire last Monday night. The exact origin of the fire is unknown but it is thought the burning of some waste paper in an unused grate started the flames on the roof. It is reported that the loss is practically covered by insurance.

By consent of all concerned it has been agreed to postpone the beginning of Hartford school until Monday the 12th day of September. This course was deemed prudent to allow Prof. Gray time to return to his home in Missouri, arrange his business affairs there and return. There is also some proposition to make some valuable improvements on the school buildings and grounds during that time.

R. T. Collins and John Taylor were among the number who attended the Biennial conclave of the Knights of Pythias this week.

Mr. Asa Hodges, of the Beaver Dam neighborhood, died of consumption of the bowels early Wednesday morning after a lingering illness of quite a while. He was seventy-four years of age. After funeral services conducted by Revs. Jenkins and Coakley, at the Beaver Dam Baptist church, of which the deceased was a consistent member, his remains were interred in the Beaver Dam cemetery Wednesday at 3 o'clock p. m. His six sons acted as pall bearers.

Mr. John C. Hoehemer has been employed to teach the public school at Rockport. Prof. Moseley, whose serious illness was mentioned some time ago, is little improved, and he has given up the school. No better selection could have been made than Mr. Hoehemer to take his place.

Tutored in the school of adversity and self-reliance, Mr. Hoehemer has become a scholar, a gentleman and an able teacher. He has spent the last two years in extended travel over the West, and has no doubt greatly enriched his store of general knowledge. We predict a successful term of school for the patrons of Rockport.

THE LIFE OF A DEER.

From its Birth in the Maine Woods to the Hunter's Bullet.

Away back in the deep forests of northern Maine a young deer was born. He was a tiny little fellow, and his coat was spotted. His kind mother had selected a dense clump of young spruce for his early home. For a time he lay quietly on his bed of dry leaves, only standing up at such times as his mother came to him and roused him. But as he grew he began to frisk around and began to want to go out, but his mother made him understand that he must obey and taught him many things. She taught him that when danger came he must drop down flat in the bushes and leaves and be perfectly still, not making the least sign, and he, being so small, the enemy would not see him, and he would escape. Then she taught him that if she left him at any place he must never move from that spot, so she could find him on her return. He obeyed her and so lived and grew through the summer and was a fine, large fawn. He wintered with his mother and many others in the deep spruce woods. Sometimes deep snow covered the ground, and it was very cold, but he was strong, and the wild creatures knew well where to look for food.

Then spring came, and new wild blood flowed through his veins. He went out alone into the woods and finally left his mother alone to care for another young brother. He learned many things, one of which was to fear man. While feeding with others he had heard a sharp crack, and a big buck that was feeding near him had sprung high in the air and fallen dead. He fled to the woods, but, lacking the caution of age, had turned and walked softly back and peered through the bushes to see why the big buck should fall and lie so still. He saw a man hurry out of the timber and cut the buck's throat, and while he stood trembling with fear the man proceeded to skin and mangle the buck in a horrible way. Then he fled on and on, not stopping until he was very tired, so as to get as far away as possible from such a horrible, cruel creature as that man was. He never forgot. If he heard that sharp crack, he always fled at once. Soon he began to have a soreness in his head, and finally his horns broke through. Two "spikes" they were, but still horns, and were for battle and defense. He was proud of them, but they soon got him in trouble with older bucks, who would have none of his lordly ways in their presence. But he still grew and waxed strong, and the next year he won some hard fought battles, and he had his mate with him till spring came again.

Now he was full grown and had a magnificent head of antlers. There was not a larger or finer buck in the forest. He had many battles and was always victorious. His fame spread abroad, and hunters went far into the forest to slay him, but he was quick of sight and keen of scent and, with all his bravery, had learned caution. When his keen eye or keener nose told him that men were near, he fled and would go deeper back into the forest and stay for days and weeks. Then he would venture back cautiously and would not appear in sight till he knew that the man had gone. So he lived on and was monarch of all that country. He had become such a terror to the other bucks that hardly one dared fight him. His pride was at last his ruin. On a bright fall day he came to the side of the lake with his herd to drink. All was still. Man had not been seen or smelled, and no danger was in the air. On a high bank a young buck stood in the warm sunshine. He did not move when the old giant came in sight. This made him mad, and he charged upon the bank, and the young buck fled. Then he marched in lordly style to the top of the bank, raised his head and snorted forth his note of defiance to all the world. Crack went a rifle from the lake below, and the noble animal leaped high forward, and a few more jumps and down to earth he went, with the hunter's rifle ball through his heart, and the famous buck of the great forest was no more.—Forest and Stream.

Cause For Tears.

Some friends were talking once before a well known caricaturist of the effect of a powerful painting upon the mind, and some one said enthusiastically:

"The painter with his brush can bring tears to the eye quite as well as the poet with his lyre."

"That is indeed true," replied the caricaturist. "I was in —'s studio yesterday, and he was showing me one of his pictures, and, though I am not usually in the melting mood, I wept for ten minutes."

"Ah! I had heard that — was treating a very pathetic subject.

And you found his wonderful brush?"

"Oh, that isn't it. He stuck his wonderful brush in my eye while gesticulating."

A Useful Ladder.

Among the peculiar "geniuses" of Byfield, Mass., a place to be remembered, and of which J. L. Ewell has written a book, was a man in the north of the parish who was asked by a ladder vender if he would like to buy.

"How much are the ladders a foot?" he asked.

"Twelve cents," was the answer.

"Very well," said he, "I'll take a foot."

The ladder vender jumped down from his load, pulled down a ladder and sawed off a foot.

The purchaser took it, paid the price and remarked quietly:

"That's just what I've been wanting to pick blackberries with."

—Youth's Companion.

Model Wanted.

"Longhair has received a commission to paint one of those studies from still life for old Muchcash," said the first artist.

"Good!" replied the second paint spreader. "I am glad to hear of his good luck."

"But he can't do the work. Muchcash wants a picture of a $20 note lying on a cigar box, and Longhair can't borrow a model."

A Bismarck Story.

Prince Bismarck once received an application from a personal friend who desired a place in the imperial office for his son. "What can the boy do?" asked the prince. "He can speak seven languages," replied the proud father. "Lieber himmel!" exclaimed the man of blood and iron. "What a splendid head waiter he would make!"

She Knew His Skill.

He had been out for a day's fishing, and as he proudly displayed the contents of his basket to his wife she exclaimed:

"Oh, John, aren't they beauties? But I've been so anxious for the last hour, dear!"

"Foolish little one!" said John carelessly. "Why, what could have happened to me?"

"Oh, I didn't worry about you, love, but it grew so late I was afraid before you got back to town the fish markets would all be closed."

Just What He Wanted.

Sarcastic Father—Julia, that young man Smully has been here three nights in succession, and it has been nearly midnight when he left. Hadn't you better invite him to bring his trunk and make his home with us?

Innocent Daughter—Oh, papa, may I? It is just what he wanted, but he was too foolish to ask you. He'll be delighted when I tell him this evening.

Her Solicitude.

They had just telephoned from downtown that hubby was seriously injured and was fast losing consciousness.

The poor wife was distracted. Grief, perplexity, exasperation, were on her face.

At last she gasped into the mouthpiece of the phone:

"I suspect I cannot get down there in time, for my new hat hasn't come from the milliner's yet, but if I can't please ask him, before he loses consciousness, what he did with the theater tickets for to-night."

And then, her grief obtaining mastery, she fell in a dead faint.—Baltimore American.

An Umbrella.

Two St. Joseph policemen decided they needed an umbrella recently and laid plans to get one. One morning a citizen came into the police station with just such an umbrella as the policemen thought would do. As he left the building one of the officers rushed up and grabbed the umbrella. "Where did you get this?" he asked gruffly. "I—I—I really don't remember," came from the citizen. "Well, it wasn't yours, was it?" said the policeman. "Why, no; I—I—the citizen replied. "All right. I'll just keep it," the policeman said. And he did.—St. Joseph (Mo.) Lance.

Authority For the Name.

Jake, a colored servant, has quite a flock of children, all of them with Biblical names, as their father is very religious and a great student of the Bible. A boy was added to the family not long ago, and Jake confessed himself puzzled as to a name for him. "You see," he explained, "we's 'bout 'sawsted all dem characters—such as David an' Amos an' Solomon. De woman suggests Balaam, but I's calculatin' on 'Hallowed.' 'Hallowed?' "Yaas, sah; de book suggests it for itself. 'Hallowed be thy name,' sah. I reckon we'll leave it dah, sah."

CYCLONES ARE HARMLESS.

Only by a Mistaken Use of Terms Are They Associated With Tornadoes.

(St. Nicholas.)

The ordinary land cyclone is usually harmless, and it is only by a mistaken use of the term that it has become associated with those terrifying storms peculiar to our country known as tornadoes. Cyclones have a bad reputation because they are commonly associated with other more harmful storms. Instead of being dangerous and destructive they are the chief source of rain in spring and autumn, and supply the snow which adds so much to the pleasure of our Northern winter. They cover a large extent of territory at one time, and on an average follow one another across the country from west to east at intervals of about three days.

A tornado often does great damage. It is known by its funnel shaped cloud which bounds and bounces along, now high in the air and again touching the ground. Where it comes along the ground the havoc is great. Here the mightiest structures of man are crushed in an instant before the avalanches of wind let loose from every direction. The air seems to have an explosive force, billows falling outward instead of inward as one might think. In such a storm no place is safe but the southwest corner of a cellar affords the best protection obtainable. If in the open, he flit on the ground. During a tornado, which lasts but a few minutes, the sky is covered by clouds of inky blackness, which here and there take on a livid greenish hue. The surface winds rush spirally upward into the funnel shaped cloud, carrying with them many articles which are after ward dropped some distance beyond. The danger zone is confined to a path less than a half a mile in width and one hundred miles in length. These storms occur only on land.

The true hurricane is ocean born. On the high seas of the tropics it mows his forces of wind and wave, before which the stoutest ship is helpless and the fairest islands are laid waste. Even the sturdy mainland trembles under its awful castigation. These ocean storms last much longer than tornadoes, cover more territory and cause more damage. The hurricane which overwhelmed Galveston destroyed several thousand lives and millions of dollars' worth of property. The West India islands are frequently scourged by these awful visitations, and our own Atlantic coast sometimes feels the lash of these dreaded storms.

But the hurricane and the tornado are rare. The former seldom extends far inland, and usually occurs in the late summer or fall. Tornadoes are products of the South and West, and are mostly confined to the spring and early summer months. The cyclone is a universal storm which travels over land and sea, in season and out of season, in spring or in fall, in summer or in winter. It is an old friend, but one much abused.

Taken With Cramps.

Wm. Kirmse, a member of the bridge gang working near Littleport, was taken suddenly ill Thursday night with cramps and a kind of cholera. His case was so severe that he had to have the members of the crew wait upon him and Mr. Gifford was called and consulted. He told them he had a medicine in the form of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy that he thought would help him out and accordingly several doses were administered with the result that the fellow was able to be around next day. The incident speaks quite highly of Mr. Gifford's medicines.—Elkader, Iowa, Argus.

This remedy never fails. For sale by all druggists.

To Dry Corn.

Dried corn is sweeter and more satisfactory for winter use than is canned corn. To dry corn pick it while it is young, cut from the cob and dry by spreading over an old platter or old plate and setting in a hot oven or the hot sun to dry. Place the dried corn in a heavy sack and hang it in a warm dry place. If after a fortnight it shows no signs of moisture, it is sufficiently dried to keep well. If there are signs of mildew or moisture, take it out and re-dry it. Do not soak the corn when using it in the winter. Cook it like fresh corn is cooked.

Cases of Eggs Destroyed.

Millions of eggs are destroyed in England every year simply in order to keep the prices up.

When the eggs are coming in to fast in a market and a glut in the market is threatened, it is the practice to break open case after case and deliberately smash the contents with a stick. Thousands of cases, and one way or another it is no uncommon thing for half a million foreign eggs to be destroyed in a week.

The World's Fair.

Except a mouse, nothing frightens a girl so much as finding she can't get into her last year's fashion suit.

A girl can always tell how a man feels by letting him hold her hand. It's hard for a woman to understand how a man can go into a store and buy a couple of collars without stopping to price all the neglige shirts.

Love is blind, but sometimes the light hurts its eyes just the same. If he can be charmed when she plays "Bedelia" it is a sign that he truly loves her.

WOMAN WINS $2,500.00.

Mrs. Herbert Tetlow, Washington, O., Secures First Prize in Contest.

Toledo, O., July 21.—Probably no one was more surprised than was Mrs. Herbert Tetlow, Washington, Ohio, when the postmaster delivered to her an envelope containing a certified check for $2,500.00 signed by the Woolson Spice Company, of Toledo, Ohio.

This good fortune is the result of an estimate made by Mrs. Tetlow in accordance with the Lion Coffee premium offer to those coming the nearest to estimating the 4th of July attendance at the World's Fair.

The total paid attendance at the St. Louis Exposition on July 4th was 139,659.

As Mrs. Tetlow's estimate was exactly correct, she was given first reward. Mrs. Tetlow sent in only six estimates.

M. K. Hessinger, Lamonia, Pa., received the second prize of $1,000.00. E. B. Roseboom, Frankfort, O., and James Ashcroft, Raleigh, N. C., each received $500.00 prizes. In all, 2139 prizes, amounting to $25,000.00, were awarded.

Throughout the last six months Woolson Spice Company has been publishing in the leading newspapers of America an offer of $5,000.00 in cash prizes. The $25,000.00 just awarded is in their World's Fair Contest. Another $25,000.00 will be given in the same way to those who make the best estimates of the total Presidential vote to be cast next November.

All told 33 people in Kentucky won prizes, the ten leading ones being:

$200.00 prize. Estimate J. J. Phillips, Gayson, Ky. . . 139,826 $100.00 prize.

Wm. Dille, Greenup, Ky., won 2 prizes, 140,000 and 140,100.

Violent Attack of Diarrhoea Cured by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and Perhaps a Life Saved.

"A short time ago I was taken with a violent attack of diarrhoea and believe I would have died if I had not gotten relief," says John J. Patton, a leading citizen of Patton, Ala. "A friend recommended Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I bought a twenty-five cent bottle and after taking three doses of it was entirely cured. I consider it the best remedy in the world for bowel complaints. For sale by all druggists."

Bright and Tart Things.

"May I kiss you?"
"Not much."

"All right; I wanted only one or two."

Mrs. Bixby—What do you think of my bathing dress?

Bixby—It's an improvement on your other one; this one is visible to the naked eye.

"Henpeck tells his wife everything that he does."

"Yes, and he does everything that she tells him."

George—What can be more sickening than to see another fellow making love to a girl?

Harry—To see another fellow making love to your girl.

Madge—How does Dolly know she has gained two pounds since she came here?

Majorie—She can't get into her bathing suit.

Madge—I wonder how Charlie felt when he was proposing to you?

Dolly—Well, if you really must know, he was feeling my cheek with one hand and my waist with the other.

Sam Jones and Carry Nation.

Louisville had Carrie Nation and Sam Jones yesterday says a recent issue of the Louisville Times. The former was busy, the latter remained quietly at his hotel until night, when he delivered an address at Glenwood Chautauqua. Mrs. Nation attacked whisky and tobacco in particular; Sam Jones attacked everyone but the Prohibitionists. Carrie Nation said Roosevelt and Parker were "beerguzzling Dutchmen"; Sam Jones said Republicans and Democrats were "damnable lousy devils." Sam Jones, in fact, called nearly everyone in the big assembly names. Preachers, old men and women, young men and young women, all came in for their share of abuse from the eccentric lecturer.

"If all the preachers were honest there would be no whisky business in a few years," said he. You long-faced preachers pray, but you don't do anything. If I was running for Mayor of Louisville I wouldn't want you for me; I'd rather have the sa-oonkeepers."

"If my daughter should bring home a dude for a husband I would spit on him and drown him," was another of his choice bits.

Another was: "A man with a good wife and fourteen children is blessed of God, but the man who has married a society woman and a poodle dog is cursed by the devil."

The meeting was held in a circus tent—an appropriate place.

Nearly Forfeits His Life.

A runaway almost ending fatally, started a horrible ulcer on the leg of J. B. Orner, Franklin Grove, Ill. For four years it defied all doctors and all remedies. But Bucklen's Arnica Salve had no trouble to cure him. Equally good for Burns, Bruises, Skin Eruptions and Piles. 25c at Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro's. drug store.

How to Set a Hen.

Very few people know how to set a hen properly. In the first place, remember that you can't make her set if she doesn't want to. Cut a barrel in two in the middle; then cut out one or two staves, so that when it is stood on its end there will be plenty

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN Hair Renewer

Renews the hair, makes it new again, restores the freshness. Just what you need if your hair is faded or turning gray, for it always restores the color. Stops falling hair, also.

of room for the hen to pass in and out. Place the barrel on the ground, with the headed end up and then scoop out the earth to a cone shape and put in a very little fine hay, and the nest is ready for the eggs. If it is not convenient to put the barrel on the ground, a grass sod placed under the nest will answer. It is best to place the hen on a few glass or worthless eggs at first, as she may not take kindly to the nest you have prepared for her. Place her on the nest after dark and she will get accustomed to it through the night. If she seems inclined to set after this, she may be given the eggs which are intended to be hatched. If the hen is allowed to leave her nest every day a small coop may be placed in front of the barrel, and then she will be sure to return to the nest. She should always have near her a cup of water and plenty of food. If the above directions are followed and the eggs are well fertilized, a good brood of chickens may be expected.

Wouldn't go Higher up.

One of Judge Howland's best stories refers to a Southern planter who was showing some Northern friends about his plantation. The visitors noticed a great number of men working in gangs about the place.

"Do your men work better that way?" asked one man.

After explaining his system the man ventured the remark that he employed many old Confederate soldiers.

"And how do they do?" asked one of the party.

"Well, over there are four men. One was a private, and one a Corporal, one a Major and one a Colonel in the service," said the planter.

"Are they equally good at their jobs?"

"O, no. The private is a first-class workman, and the Corporal is pretty good, too," said the planter. "The Major is so so, and as for the Colonel, well, I hesitate to say anything against one who fought in the war, but I have made up my mind that I shall not hire any Brigadier Generals."

My Breath.

Shortness of Breath Is One of the Commonest Signs of Heart Disease.

Notwithstanding what many physicians say, heart disease can be cured.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure has permanently restored to health many thousands who had found no relief in the medicines (gallopahic or homoeopathic) of regular practicing physicians.

It has proved itself unique in the history of medicine, by being so uniformly successful in curing these diseases.

Nearly always, one of the first signs of trouble is shortness of breath. Whether it comes as a result of walking or running up stairs, or of other exercises, if the heart is unable to meet this extra demand upon its pumping powers—there is something wrong with it.

The very best thing you can do, is to take Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. It will go to the foundation of the trouble, and make a permanent cure by strengthening and renewing the nerves.

"I know that Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is a great remedy. For a number of years I suffered from shortness of breath, smothering spells, and pains in my left side. For months at a time I would be unable to lie on my left side, and if I lay flat on my back would nearly smother. A friend advised using Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, which I did with good results. I began to improve at once, and after taking several bottles of the Heart Cure the pains in my side and other symptoms vanished. I am now entirely well. All those dreadful smothering spells are a thing of the past."—F. P. LARKER, Middletown, O.

ANIMALS AT SCHOOL.

Only an Unkept, Unconscious School and One Entirely Instinctive.

Is there anything which, without great violence to language, may be called a school of the woods? In the sense in which a playground is a school—a playground without rules or methods or a director—there is a school of the woods. It is an unkept, an unconscious school or gymnasium and is entirely instinctive. In play the young of all animals no doubt get a certain amount of training and disciplining that helps fit them for their future careers, but this school is not presided over or directed by parents, though it is sometimes taken part in by them. It is spontaneous and haphazard, without rule or system, but is in every case along the line of the future struggle for life of the particular bird or animal. A young marsh hawk which we reared used to play at striking leaves or bits of bark with its talons, kittens play with a ball or a cob or a stick as if it were a mouse, dogs race and wrestle with each other as in the chase, ducks dive and sport in the water, doves circle and dive in the air as if escaping from a hawk, birds pursue and dodge each other in the same way, bears wrestle and box, chickens have mimic battles, colts run and leap, fawns probably do the same thing, squirrels play something like a game of tag in the trees, lambs butt one another and skip about the rocks, and so on.

In fact, nearly all play, including much of that of man, takes the form of mock battle and is to that extent an education for the future. Among the carnivora it takes also the form of the chase. Its spring and motive are, of course, pleasure and not education, herein again revealing the cunning of nature—the power that conceals purposes of its own in our most thoughtless acts. The cat and the kitten play with the live mouse not to indulge the sense of cruelty, as some have supposed, but to indulge in the pleasure of the chase and of capture and unconsciously to practice this feat. The cat rarely plays with a live bird, because the recapture would be more difficult and might fail. What fishermen would not like to capture his big fish over and over again if he could be sure of doing it, not from cruelty, but for the pleasure of practicing his art?—John Burroughs in Century.

The Way They Went.

There was no doubt of it—Mr. Hunter had lost the "field." He had searched for his companion fox hunters long, but vainly, and now he was reduced to asking the aid of a chubby little lad of three whom he met in a lane.

"Hello, Johnny! Which way did the hounds go?" he queried.

"Johnny" sucked a finger and dropped his gaze.

"Come," coaxed Mr. Hunter, "do not be afraid. Here's a penny for you. Now tell me what way did the hounds go?"

The youngster took the coin and then fell upon all fours and "bow-wow-ed."

"Dat way," he said shyly.—London Answers.

Two Gentlemen.

The late Justice Maule of the English judiciary, while one time presiding at an assize court, was lecturing a prisoner previous to passing sentence on him, when he was annoyed by one of the officials of court crossing beneath him between the bench and the prisoners' dock on business with the members of the bar.

"You ought to know," exclaimed the judge severely, addressing the offending officer, "that it is improper to pass between two gentlemen when one of them is addressing the other!"

He then proceeded to pass sentence of seven years' penal servitude on the other "gentleman."

Both Fooled.

An amateur cornet player, who makes life a burden to his neighbors, applied the other day to the conductor of a theater for employment. It so happened that the conductor was badly in need of a cornet player. Greatly impressed by the applicant's account of himself and his playing, and also being in a great hurry, he engaged the lad at once and told him to be on hand the same night. The overture that evening was "Tannhauser," and the new recruit made a ghastly mess of his share in it. When at last it was over the purple faced conductor bent down to the amateur and said in angry tones:

"You wretched scoundrel! I thought you could play."

"So did I till I came here," replied the cornet player, getting up and putting away his instrument, "and aren't we both jolly well sold?" And with that the amateur disappeared with alacrity.—London Standard.
